When should my cat be groomed?

Cats of all ages need grooming. We can start with young kittens to help familiarize them with the grooming process. As they mature regular grooming keeps them in top shape.

Cats benefit the most from weekly home grooming and 4 to 12 weeks for professional grooming to maintain best coat and skin health. This prevents shedding, matting and reduces grease and saliva from building up in the cat's coat.

As cats age they will need more frequent grooming to maintain their comfort.

We will ALWAYS put the well being of your cat first. This means we tailor our services to meet your cat's needs.

Make sure to let the groomer know about any medical concerns your cat may have.

Why wash a cat?

Bathing and drying the coat allows us to do a better job of the de-shed or clip process. This helps your cat feel better and makes the trim last longer. Bathing and drying ultimately makes the complete grooming process easier on the cat.

Matting

Prevention through regular grooming is always preferred over once-in-a-while matting removal. Cat skin is dangerously thin and when the coat is matted the skin gets pulled up into the matting. This puts the cat's well being at risk.

Matting is caused by dirt, dander, debris and natural skin and coat oils building up and clumping the coat together. Regular bathing will help prevent this and will promote your cat's comfort.
